

It's Spring time again, and that means fertilizing our houseplants. One needs to take careful note of all sizes, and species of plants before making the decision to fertilize. For instance, many plants used in Feng Shui design installations are extremely delicate to even common household chemicals. The specie of your plants needs to be researched, to know exactly what needs to be done with fertilizing techniques. Happy Fertilizing!!

-The Plant Lady